

Sandberg ViperSet

The Sandberg ViperSet is a small and handy headset with an integrated microphone in the inline volume control. The neckband can be folded up in a matter of seconds so it's no problem to keep your headset with your laptop. Despite the compact size, you get fantastic sound that is perfect for computer games, chatting over the Internet or listening to music.

More information at www.sandberg.it

Pocket-lint in en has tested the Sandberg ViperSet (October 2, 2008). The review mentioned:

"...the styling looks pretty good..."