

The Sandberg USB Play Headset is a solidly built headset whose sound will knock you out. For an additional kick, enable the Super Bass function and let the thundering bass really beat you up. The cord is fitted with a control unit to let you manage your music on playlists, adjust the volume, etc. What's more, you get a cool flexible microphone which can be rolled up and that lets you talk to friends on Skype or add comments in CounterStrike. No boring downtime spent on slow installations – you are up and running as soon as the headset is connected. English user guide.
