

Sandberg USB Share Link PC-PC/MAC

The Sandberg USB Share Link PC-MAC allows you to easily transfer files between a Windows PC and a MAC. The Go! Suite program is located on a chip in the USB connector itself and starts automatically so that you can select and copy files immediately. You can also use the cable between two MAC computers and two Windows PCs. With the latter you get access to more functions, including sharing internet connections as well as synchronising data and e-mails in Microsoft Outlook. The cable is a vital and a time-saving shortcut when you need two computers to communicate across operating systems and platforms. English user guide.
