

Sandberg RJ45 Cross-over adapter

If you have two computers each with their own network adapter and ordinary network cables, you can use this smart mini-hub to create a network between these two computers without having to attach a crossover cable or use a proper hub/switch. The adapter simply attaches between the two network cables. It is as easy as that!