

Aerial connector for fitting to the end of an aerial cable. Internal screw terminals avoid the need for soldering. The connector is angled at 90 degrees so that the cable does not stick up in the air.