

(The displayed photo shows UK keyboard layout)

The Sandberg Mini Touchpad Keyboard combines a wireless keyboard and mouse in a single compact and handy device. The built-in, user-friendly touchpad takes on all mouse functions such as scroll and double-click. If your computer is connected to your TV, then you can sit back on the sofa and navigate your computer completely free of cables whether you're surfing on the net, watching a film or doing something quite different. Insert the USB receiver provided into your computer and the keyboard is ready to use straight away without having to install any software.

More information at www.sandberg.it mega-labs.com gives the Touchpad Keyboard their 'Editor's Choice Award' saying:

"A very elegant keyboard. Performed very well. Buttons felt pleasant. Absolutely worth the money."