

Sandberg Wireless Touchpad Keyboard UK

The Sandberg Wireless Touchpad Keyboard enables you to operate both mouse and keyboard from the same device within a radius of up to 10 metres from your computer. This is particularly useful if your computer is connected to your TV. Take the keyboard with you to the sofa and you can easily surf the web, play music, watch films and lots more. The keyboard is also equipped with a row of shortcut keys for standard Windows® applications as well as special keys that make navigating Windows Vista Media Center a breeze. The built-in touchpad lets you use your finger as a mouse. A simple, handy solution. English user guide.
